BRIEF

The requested URL /404 was not found on this server. A 404 message is a familiar indication of having arrived somewhere on the internet that you didn't mean to go. It signifies an error, but more broadly refers to a breakdown of the network, of knowledge, of machines, of relations between people and machines. It is a graphical space devoted to the accidental, the unintentional, and the end of that long long sequence of links that got you there. Your task is to design a beautiful and interesting error 404 response page. You are encouraged to incorporate any aspect of your interests as a designer and to experiment broadly.
